- Red Ribbon Week: Proud to be drug-free!
- P.S. 3 receives $750 grant from ExxonMobil

Red Ribbon Week: Proud to be drug-free!

Public School No.3 officially kicked off their Red Ribbon Week celebration on Monday, Oct. 26. The students wore red shirts as they marched in front of the school chanting about staying drug-free. Throughout the week students dressed according to themes and participated in several activities on drug-education.

National Red Ribbon Week is celebrated annually in schools across the country during the month of October. It is the oldest and largest drug prevention and education campaign in the country.

P.S. 3 receives $750 grant from ExxonMobil

On Monday, Oct. 12, the students of West New York Public School No. 3 joined the Honorable Mayor Silverio A. Vega; Dr. Robert Van Zanten, superintendent of schools, and John Fauta, assistant superintendent of schools, to receive a $750 grant check on behalf of the ExxonMobil Educational Alliance Program. The donation was made through Juan Carlos Ramirez of Ramirez and Sons Inc., the owner of the ExxonMobil service station on 60th Street and Broadway. For the past eight years Mr. Ramirez has successfully secured an annual grant from the alliance program for P.S. No. 3.

The ExxonMobil Education Alliance Program is designed to provide retailers with an opportunity to invest in the future of their community.
